ABOUT ME

My name is Juan Pablo, I am a skilled web developer based in Buenos Aires, Argentina.

With 3 years of programming studies and almost 2 years of professional experience under my belt, I specialize in Python and Django to build custom web applications.

I am passionate about bringing ideas to life through clean, efficient code and user-friendly design. With a strong attention to detail and a focus on delivering results that exceed expectations, I take pride in creating solutions that help businesses and organizations achieve their goals.
